

New Federal FMLA Posting Requirement

Due to recent changes, your Federal Labor Law poster may be out of compliance.

Did you know:

On February 5, the Department of Labor issued a final rule that expands employee rights under the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA). As a result, private employers with 50 or more employees and all public employers are required to display an updated FMLA posting at each business location by March 8 2013.

Stay in compliance!
We offer Labor Law posters that meet all current rules and regulations.
